

War Games: A Mother's Perspective

Continues at Susan Hensel Design

An anti-war art exhibit created by the mother of a 21-year-old Army corporal stationed in Ramadi, Iraq, opened in January at Susan Hensel Design, 3441 Cedar Ave. So. The artist, Kari Gunter-Seymour of Albany, Ohio visited and shared her experience with the opening night crowd. WAR GAMES will be on display through February 26.

Kari Gunter-Seymour has created a two-room art exhibit - titled "War Games: A Mother's Perspective." It is made from cardboard, news photos and brick-a-brack and offers you a chance to get up close and personal with the experience of military families and also provides you opportunities to help

Kari began making the show when her son, her only child, was sent to Iraq. She started making the work to save herself. Soon, people began seeing what she was doing and demanded that it be shown to more people. So she consented to a one-night show. Soon she consented to another show, and another show and another show! She made this show to raise awareness about the war (which she opposes) and encourage Americans to support the troops and bring them home safely.

The show runs through February 26 and can be seen by appointment or by chance. Remember, Susan Hensel lives at Susan Hensel Design and can easily accommodate YOUR schedule. Call 612 722-2324 or susan@susanhenseldesign.com

Corcoran News, Feb 2005

an interactive show by Kari Gunter-
Seymour

Through Feb 26
call for hours

SUSAN HENSEL DESIGN 3441 Cedar Ave. S
for more info contact 612 722-2324 • susan@susanhenseldesign.com

CORCORAN NEWS

Arts & Entertainment

Art Exhibits and Exhibitions

Susan Hensel Design, 3441 Cedar Ave. So. War Games, by Kari Gunter-Seymour. An anti-war art exhibit created by the mother of a 21-year-old Army corporal stationed in Iraq. Created to raise awareness about the war (which she opposes) and encourage Americans to support the troops. Through February 26th. 612-722-2324 or www.susanhenseldesign.com