

Bat of Minerva

Susan Hensel, November 14, 2011

NOVEMBER 14, 2011 AARON VICTORIN-VANGERUDBAT OF MINERVA

Susan Hensel's exhibition history covers more than thirty years. For twenty years during the sixties and seventies she participated in Michigan's finest juried art fairs, while maintaining a gallery presence working primarily in functional and sculptural ceramics. Now her work focuses on handmade paper and her art, including drawing, painting, sculpture, writing, literary research, sewing, cutting, papermaking, computer work, collage, rubberstamping, and printmaking, is exhibited in competitions, galleries from coast to coast, and museum shows and collections.

The interview can also be downloaded as a video podcast \(314.1 MB\) or as an audio file \(.mp3 - 55.6 MB\).

For more information about Susan Hensel and her work, you can visit her website at <http://www.susanhenseldesign.com/>, her gallery at 3441 Cedar Ave South, Minneapolis, 55404, or follow her art blog online.

Tagged Art conversation, Design, interview, Painting, Paper